jail until then, at the discretion of the court. If the trial judge so orders, or if a probation officer of the court, after investigation, believes the defendant is in need of psychiatric care, the court shall suspend the imposition of sentence and place the defendant on probation or sentence without specifying a term and with respect to which the maximum period is extended to a maximum period of five years. The trial judge may suspend the imposition of sentence and the trial court shall impose a term of probation or sentence within 60 days of this order.█...█████. 7b17bfd26b... One of the reasons to issue a search warrant is for evidence. However, if evidence is obtained without a valid search warrant, it may not be used in a criminal proceeding against the defendant on the basis of the evidence. If the search warrant is issued upon the basis of an affidavit or sworn testimony by a police officer, the affidavit or testimony is sufficient if it recites probable cause to believe that the evidence is located in a particular place. If the affidavit or testimony includes facts that are not necessarily suspicious, such as specific facts indicating the likelihood of the existence of evidence, the affidavit or testimony is insufficient. The test for a valid warrant is 7b17bfd26b. A search warrant shall not issue unless it is supported by one or more affidavits. The affidavit or affidavits shall be made on oath before a judicial officer and must contain
