OpenLP is an application suitable for those who want to create, edit, and reference religious motifs and Biblical content. The program is free, easy to use, and lets you search through a database with Scripture references, edit your content, and broadcast it to connected projectors. The initial configuration OpenLP comes packed with a so-called 'First Time Wizard.' This walk-through will initiate a series of configuration steps for all those who want to have a comfortable working environment, suitable for presentation creation, in their chosen language, with the properly-matched plugins. The plugins you can add consist of the following extensions for presentation insertions for songs, images, or the Bible in different translations, as well as remote access, desktop alerts, and others. When configuring the application for the first time, you must have an active Internet connection and enable the OpenLP's access to network communications through the firewall. But no worries needed! Any default Windows setup sends an alert to your desktop, asking you if you allow OpenLP to conduct communications and add an exception to your firewall. You should click the command 'Allow Access.' A user-friendly interface for creating presentations with ease and connecting to projectors Once installed and properly configured, the application enables you to create the material you want and need with great simplicity.
