Active Directory Recovery Software - Highly efficient tool to recover deleted Active Directory objects in a matter of seconds.Q: How to keep fuel pump on during drain and fill I'm draining and filling my tank for the first time ever. My question is, how can I quickly release the pump, without losing all the fuel that's in the tank? I'm filling my fuel tank so that the new gas will replace the old one in my tank, so I have to open the fuel injectors so the pump can empty out whatever's in the tank. However, during that time, it's not releasing the pump and I'm pumping with my hand, so I'm not sure if I'll get enough fuel to fill the tank. I can hold the vent pipe with my finger to keep it on, but it's getting difficult when I need to keep my hand on the fuel injector to keep my hand above the valve. A: Put your old gascap back on. You can hold the pump off and the new gas will flow from the tank into the tank through the cap. That way you can drain out the old gas and then cap it for storage. Make sure the can is absolutely air-tight, but not impossible to open. Q: sort list of list by lambda function without duplicate my question is similar to this question, but not the same I used the same method of list sort by lambda function, and still got duplicate items. I want to sort a list of list by size of each list. e.g, [[1, 2], [1, 3], [2, 3], [2, 2], [2, 1], [1, 3], [2, 2], [1, 2], [2, 1], [3, 2], [1, 2], [1, 3]] I am thinking of using lambda function but I don't know how to exclude duplicate items. Thanks. A: You don't have to check if it is already in the list. >>> l= [[1, 2], [1, 3], [2, 3], [2, 2], [2, 1], [1, 3], [2, 2], [1, 2], [2, 1], [3, 2], [1, 2], [1, 3]] >>> >>> sorted(l, key=lambda x: 09e8f5149f

Norton Ghost gives you the ability to create a bootable edition of Windows and transfer it to another computer. It is generally used to fix boot errors and is quite similar to DD, but it has a few different aspects. It is not a useful tool for dual-booting or installations of other operating systems. The main difference from DD is that it deals with virtual hard drives, that is, you do not need to make an image of the partition and use it for data recovery. You can actually copy the necessary files to restore the data and the only thing that is missing is a folder that has a certain name. If the file is named in a such way, then it is going to be more difficult to restore
